I am pleased to be given the opportunity to comment on the settlement under the Tunney Act.

Given that both Microsoft and the DOJ have agreed upon terms that address the concerns of the original complaint, I am all in favor of proceeding with the settlement.

In all honesty, I never felt Microsoft has harmed consumers, even though deemed a monopoly. Microsoft has been a key force in driving the computer industry, and enabled numerous companies (media, hardware, and software) to grow and thrive. Enough time and money has been spent on this litigation. Proceed with the settlement.
